Lajna Ima'illah, Boston Chapter initiates a Mosque Beautification Project.

On Sunday, September 16th, 2012 members of Lajna Ima'illah, Boston Chapter met at Bait- ul Nasr, their local mission house to clean the mosque. However what started out as routine cleaning, very quickly grew into a larger mosque beautification project. The day started with Lajna members scrubbing the bathrooms, and reorganizing the storage cupboards, which lead on to a complete overhaul of the Nasirat room. All old toys and furniture were removed from the Nasirat room, the storage closet was emptied, the walls were thoroughly washed to remove stains, and the carpet was thoroughly vacuumed. The Nasirat room underwent a transformation and became a Nasirat 'classroom' and will receive a bright new colorful coat of paint, laminated posters on the wall and a new white board for use at Nasirat classes, Inshallah. Next, with the help of some Khuddham and Ansar, the walls in the prayer area, the stairway, and the entrance way were scrubbed to remove old stains, and the wooden floors in the eating areas received a coat of wood cleaner. The book tables were reorganized, and the dining tables received new matching decorative tablecloths. The entrance way was thoroughly cleaned and reorganized to make a more welcoming impression for people entering into a 'house of God'. The flowerbeds were cleared and new autumnal plants were set to bring color to the mosque. Although the mosque beautification project in the Boston Chapter is still a work in progress, may Allah enable us to continue beautifying our mosque, and may He enable us to fulfill our desires to beautify our mosque in line with the directives given to us by our beloved HuzurABA Inshallah.
